Sore Eyes
The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sursuparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful in-flammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely Cured

My eves are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever. — Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

Decatur

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.—

C. F. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until within a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sursaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier. — Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflamma-tion in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the bull, depriving me of sight, and causing great paln. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and,

By Taking three bottles of this medicine, have been entirely cured. My sight has been re-stored, and there is no sign of uniannua-tion, sore, or ulcer in my eye. —Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Obio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrotulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored, and she can now look steadily at a brilliant light without pain. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Butherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky.

ANCIENT GOLD-DIGGERS.

Remarkable Ruins Found in Africa Among the Huts of the Savages. Some way south of the Zambesi river there is a large region, extending from the sea nearly 400 miles inland, and 300 to 400 miles toward the south, in which ruins are constantly being discovered, proving that in prehistorio times the country was inhabited by a civilized people. To-day only the rudest black tribes inhabit this land, save in a few places where the Portuguese have established stations. The little bee-hive huts of the natives are seen among massive ruins betokening a degree of architectural skill which rivals that of the ancient Aztecs. Our knowledge of these ruins is still far from perfect. Our earliest records of travels and trade on the east African coast, extending back to the beginning of the Christian era, do not mention them. Only in recent years have the travels of Selous, Erskine, Mauch. Baines, Mohr and O'Neill revealed to us the monumental evidence this country

The coast town Sofala is shown on all maps of East Africa. Near that town Carl Mauch found extensive ruins remarkable for their enduring nature and strange shapes. There are partly ruined walls, still thirty feet high and twelve feet wide at the base, built of small hewn blocks of granite. In these walls, some times fifteen to twenty feet from the ground, are imbedded one end of blocks of stone eighteen to twenty feet long, which were evidently used to support galler-ies. Here and there, built in the walls or standing by themselves, are round stone towers which evidently rose to heights of thirty to fifty feet. Similar masses of masonry are found as far as three hundred and fifty miles inland and a little north near the coast.

It is not positively known yet who built these ancient structures. No trained archeologist has visited them, and no search has yet been made for the inscriptions, though O'Neill says he has no doubt from what he has recently heard that there are numerous inscriptions on the ruins about Manica. All these ruins are surrounded by surface gold mines. It is believed that all this country was occupied some time before the Christian era by a great colony, probably of Phonician origin, and that its chief occupation was gold

Mr. O'Neill says that these numerous ruins are nearly as well preserved as those of Assyria. Some day, no doubt, they will be systematically studied. Their existence shows conclusively that a large region in inner Africa, now given up to savage men and wild beasts was subject many centuries ago to the control of a people who were considerably advanced in the arts of civilizaon.--N. F. Sun.

AN OLD VIOLIN.

Remarkable History of an Instrument Made in Germany in 1866. Probably the oldest violin in Ulster County is owned by John Goeller, of Rondout. It was manufactured in the year 1606 in Germany. The old violin has a strange history. In 1820 the sexton of an ancient cloister in Germany found a violin in the garret of the building. It was covered with dust and cobwebs. On the box was the date and the maker's name. The sexton, being somewhat of a musician, discovered that the instrument he found was a valuable one. He took it to young Goeller's grandfather, who was a good friend of his, and a noted musician, in that part of Germany, and said: "Professor, here is an instrument that I found in the cloister garret. Its intrinsle value I know not, but that it is worth a large sum I am convinced. I give it to you on one condition, and that is you will promise me never to let it go out of the Goeller family."

The professor promised, and the violin changed ownership. Just previous to the old professor's death, in Germany, he sent the violin to his son. George Goeller, now of Rondout, but at that time living in New York and playing in the orchestra at the old Chatham Street Theater. One night a message reached Mr. Goeller at the theater that the house where he lived was on fire. His first thought was of the old violin, which was in his bedwoom. He made his way to the house and found the house in flames. Nothing daunted, and sat the risk of his life, he rushed into the burning building. A cry of horror arose from the crowd in the street, who were sure that he had gone to his death. A minute later Mr. Goeller, blackened and scorched by smoke and flame. emerged from the house, bearing in his hand the prized instrument. He sank exhausted to the sidewalk. A bystander, seeing what Mr. Goeller had pers of the Young Republicans' Club was held at the office of Attorney Ready last night. In the absence of the president of the club, I. R. Mills was elected temporary chairman, L. F. Skelly secretary. Reports as to the action taken by the executive committee in the matter of naming workers in the ten districts for activity at the primaries and at the polls on election day were received, showing that the young voters are anxious for the success of the straight ticket. After speeches by George Abbott, Edward Allen and others, President Heilman entered and at the request of the temporaryschairman he came forward and occupied the chair, I. R. Mills was then called upon. He spoke at some length on the duty and privileges of young men in politics. Remarks were also made by C. T. Reid, D. A. Maffit, George Brown. J. H. McCoy, J. M. Ready, A. H. Mills, W. A. Holman, M. H. Willard, Ben Howenstine, Joe McClellan and President Heilman. The motion was adopted that a committee of three be appointed to select permanent headquarters for the kill himself for several weeks. He leaves chib and ascertain terms on which such place can be had. Committee-John Young, George Abbott and J. M. This evening Miss Louise Rial and troupe give "Fortune's Fool" at the opera house. The play is a strong emotional one, and Miss Rial has received many very favorable notices wherever she has appeared. Her costumes are said to be among the finest of any actress on the stage, a fact which will be of special mterest to the feminine heart. The Evansville Journal says:

Miss Rial in the role of "Coralia," has a splendid opportunity of displaying her wonderful emotional powers. Applause was frequent, and is a splendid criterion of the hit she made.

SURE DEATH ON RATE

If the fair, stout and somewhat aged lady were told that if she really wished to appear youthful and attractive she would stop lacing until she could scarcely breathe and eating until she lost the power of thought. There would be a certain childness in her manner toward the first hold experimenter that exayed such candar but as she continued to hear the How a Woman Solved a Vexations Prob-lem in Domestic Life. lein in Domestic Life.

Mrs Behedict's business is that of a rateatcher a new profession now fairly opened to women, and one which Mrs Benedict at least has made lucrative. The business of rat extermination is not strictly new, and yet Mrs. Benedict is fairly entitled to rank as its inventor, at least in an important sense. She has raised it to the dignity of a profession. The problem has been how to kill the rats without bringing unpleasant edors into the house.

Irlah Setter-Victory at Last. I heard a dog story the other day that hould serve as a text in a reformatory school, or, to bring it nearer home, to some people as an argument in favor of educational discipline. The hero of this tale is an Irish setter, amiable enough, but atubborn, and trained only to be good He never showed any special talent, save to 'keep house' and live up to his canine inrkeep house 'and live up to his canno instincts of barking at seedy looking strangers and evincing a proper affection for the family whom he honored with his maintenance. Not very long since a young relative of this family undertook to teach Jack a trick. He was told the dog was too stubborn to learn anything, it was useless washing time over him, but
